Hillary Machinery Inc Promotes Matt Curtis and Mark Garner to Support Rapid Growth

January 3, 2012 – Plano, TX – To better service its growing customer base throughout Texas and Oklahoma, Hillary Machinery Inc has promoted veteran service technician Mark Garner to Service Manager and Matt Curtis to Project Manager – North Texas.

“2011 was a record setting year for Hillary,” reports Troy Owen, Hillary’s Executive VP. A 36% increase in unit sales in 2010 and a 45% increase in unit sales for 2011 paved the way for additional sales and service technicians in Texas and Oklahoma in 2011 raising the number of Hillary Machinery employees to 29.

A 2003 Industrial Distribution graduate from Texas A&M University, Matt demonstrated an ability to manage complex product solutions while serving the Central Texas region for Hillary before being promoted to Project Manager on January 1, 2012. As Project Manager, Matt’s primary responsibility will be to provide sales support to major OEM’s and tier 1 suppliers in North Texas.

Mark Garner joined Hillary Machinery’s service staff in 1998 as a field service technician. “His dedication and attention to detail in addition to the experience he gained as a service technician over the past 14 years with Hillary made Mark the right man for the role of Service Manager,” explain Doug Weber, President of Hillary Machinery Inc, “a role I had been performing for several years prior.” The promotion enables Weber to concentrate more on the company’s growing cutting tools and fluids business and finances.
